

IANR Performance Management

Perform System User Guide

Overview: The IANR Performance Management process is for all regular staff employees within IANR and their managers, including faculty who manage staff.

Employee and managers will meet twice per year to discuss six open-ended questions intended to focus on employee accomplishments, goal, and opportunities for growth and development.

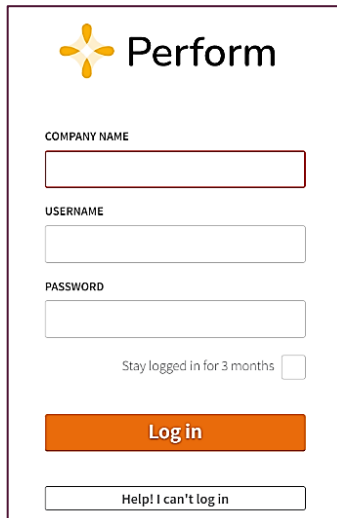

Perform System Instructions:

1. As a new employee, once you are entered into the Perform system you will receive a welcome email. Once you receive this email you will be able to log in. You will also receive reminder emails from the system when you need to log in and perform tasks throughout the performance management cycle.

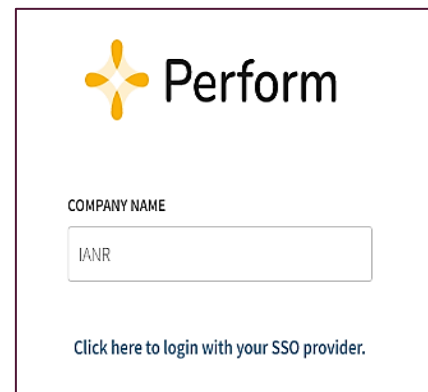

2. To Log into Perform go to: perform.trakstar.com/login

Type IANR into "Company Name."

Log in with your UNL credentials. Once in the system, future logins may only require your UNL credentials through TrueYou.

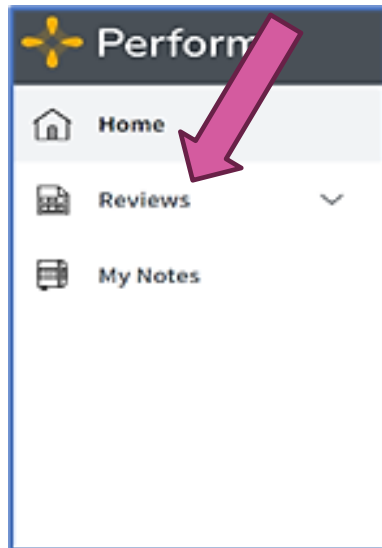

The screenshot shows the Perform system login page. At the top left is the Perform logo, a yellow starburst icon. Below it is the text "Perform". There are three input fields: "COMPANY NAME" with a red border, "USERNAME", and "PASSWORD". Below the password field is a checkbox labeled "Stay logged in for 3 months". At the bottom is an orange "Log in" button and a link that says "Help! I can't log in".

3. Locate the navigational bar on the left side of the screen, and click on "Reviews."

4. The "Reviews" screen will display a status bar along the top. This will tell you the review cycle, due date, and the percent of completion for your conversation

5. The Performance Management process is EMPLOYEE-driven. Schedule a time to have a conversation with your manager. Prepare for the meeting by completing the answers to your 6 questions. You can navigate to various questions by scrolling down on the right or clicking on the questions on the left-hand navigation menu. The “unanswered questions” icon will also indicate your completion status.

DO NOT send to your manager prior to the conversation.

The screenshot shows a performance management review interface. On the left is a navigation menu with the following items: "Performance Management C...", "1. What accomplishments have you h...", "2. Do we (me and my supervisor) thin...", "3. What will you accomplish before th...", "4. What are your natural strengths an...", "5. What challenges are you facing tod...", "6. How can I help you be your best?", "Summary Comments", and "Overall Score". The main content area is titled "July - October 15 Review for Dilbert z Employee". Below the title is a "Position Description" section with the text "Position Academic Advisor description". A progress indicator shows "0 Unscored Elements" and "6 Unanswered Questions", with the latter circled in red. A red prohibition sign is overlaid on a "Send to Manager" button. The main heading is "Performance Management Conversation". The first question is "1. What accomplishments have you had since the last time we met?". Below the question is a "Things to think about" section with the text: "This is your opportunity to highlight what you accomplished over the past six months. You do not need to list everything you achieved, but focus on the projects or tasks that were your biggest priority; you were most proud of achieving; had a significant impact; or has been most beneficial to the department/team." Below this is a link: "Click here for ideas to keep the answer fresh". At the bottom, there is an "Answers (0)" section with a text input field labeled "Answer question..."

6. AFTER the conversation with your manager, summarize the conversation by adding anything new that was discussed to each of your answers. Be sure you list the manager’s response to question #2 by indicating “YES, SOMEWHAT, or NO” to reflect whether or not you are meeting expectations.

2. Do we (me and my supervisor) think my accomplishments align with what is expected (most needed) for this position and our unit's priorities? Yes, Somewhat, or No? Explain.

Things to think about: Are we on the same page for how I should be spending my time? Why or why not? What are the expectations for this position? Remember that priorities and workload shift throughout the year. It is okay to be flexible and adjust your goals as necessary.

Send to Manager

Are you sure you want to send your self-review to the manager? You will not be able to make changes.

No Yes

8. Now it is the manager's turn. The manager can find their direct reports on their home page by scrolling down toward the bottom. The manager will select the employee they would like to review and click on "score review". The manager will then add comments to each question and send back to employee by clicking "approval" several times as prompted.

The performance conversation process is now completed.

Creating Notes in the Perform System: Employees and managers may use the “notes” option in Perform to store information and details they want to remember for the performance conversation.

Instructions:

1. Once logged in, click on the “My Notes” icon on the left-hand navigational menu.

2. Click inside the box to begin adding a note.

3. You can add a note in this section and decide if you want to make it visible to your manager. You can designate which question the “note” should tie to so you can decide later if you want to use it to complete your evaluation questions later. You can also attach a file as a “note.” You may want to use this to upload a certificate of completion, a positive email from a customer or faculty member, or anything that you decide is useful in supporting an answer to the evaluation question. Once you take a note, you can edit it or delete it later.
